Dear parent or guardian,

I regret to have to inform you that I have been advised of an intensification of the Industrial Action (short of strike action) by some members of the teacher's trade unions at the Royal School. It has become necessary therefore to cancel ALL Parent Teacher Meetings which were planned to take place after school hours.

The school management will work to make arrangements for alternative opportunities for you to learn more about your child's progress in school and how you may support them. These alternatives will take place during the school day, but we will endeavour to minimise disruption to your child's learning.

More information about the industrial action can be found on the websites of the trade unions.

Yours sincerely

Graham GW Montgomery
